MESSAGE FROM THE COOPERATIVE

Lighting the way for 90 years

Holmes-Wayne celebrates anniversary

Glenn W. Miller
PRESIDENT/CEO

In today's increasingly digital world, it is hard to imagine life without power at the flip of a switch. Yet, not so long ago, the convenience of electricity was a luxury that many could only dream of. In 1930, the rural areas of Holmes County were still largely in the dark, with only 140 residences enjoying the benefits of electricity. It was during this time that a group of local residents took the lead to establish Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc. — marking the beginning of a new era for community.

These forward-thinking individuals began by sharing their ideas with others in the community. They organized small town meetings and visited individual farms, advocating for the benefits of electricity. The possibilities were undeniable. Soon farmers began signing up for membership and the maps of electric lines began to take shape.

It did not take long for the benefits of electrification to spread and soon Wayne County residents were eager to join the movement. After securing approval for a Rural Electrification loan, 245 Wayne County citizens contributed $1,270 in membership dues to the cooperative, marking the beginning of their journey with Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative.

In the spring of 1936, the cooperative signed its first loan for $269,000, at 3% interest, to be paid over 20 years. The loan was intended to fund the construction of 214 miles of electrical lines. A rate schedule was established, charging .075 cents per kilowatt-hour with a minimum charge of $2.50. With the groundwork firmly in place, the future was indeed promising.

A lot has changed over the past 90 years, including our name. In 1958, Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative transitioned to Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc. The following year, cooperative headquarters were established at the co-op's current location in Millersburg, signaling a new era of growth and service.

Safety protocols have advanced significantly since the early days. Initially, linemen worked with bare hands and uninsulated tools, making every job labor-intensive and hazardous. Today, HWEC prioritizes safety, employing bucket trucks, insulated rubber gloves, and numerous safety protocols. Regular inspections ensure that everyone returns home safely each day.

Though much has changed over the past 90 years, the commitment of Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative to provide reliable, affordable electricity remains constant.

While the cost of electricity has increased from an average of .075 cents per kWh in the 1930s to 14 cents today, this change is modest compared to the price increases of other consumer goods such as milk, eggs, home, cars, and health care. When considering these factors, electricity remains an incredible value for the money paid, offering an essential service at a reasonable cost.

We've advanced in many ways from the early days of bringing electricity to rural areas without modern technology, and with paper maps as our guide. We have embraced innovation with tools such as SCADA, allowing us to monitor and control our electric grid; GIS, allowing us to map our infrastructure digitally; and SmartHub, which allows members to manage their accounts online, offering convenience and transparency in energy usage and billing.

We have expanded our energy portfolio to include renewable sources such as solar and hydroelectric power.

By investing in cutting-edge technologies and sustainable practices, we remain committed to meeting the evolving energy needs of our members.

Beyond providing electricity, we have actively contributed to the social and economic development of our communities. Through scholarships, generous contributions from our members through the Operation Round Up program, distribution of more than $37,433,217 in capital credits, and partnerships with local organizations, we have supported efforts including education, public safety and community well-being.

As we commemorate this 90th anniversary, we express our heartfelt gratitude to our dedicated members and employees. It is their support that has propelled us forward, enabling us to overcome challenges and embrace opportunities. Together, we have built a legacy of cooperation, reliability, and empowerment. Here's to the next 90 years of illuminating the way together.

Check out our cooperative's historic highlights in the timeline on pages 18B to 19.

Ralph Shaffer exemplifies service to others

Ralph Shaffer with Holmes-Wayne Class A Lineman Hunter Flinger, a former neighbor of Shaffer's.

At 94 years young, Ralph Shaffer is more than just a longtime member of our co-op — he is a living example of what it means to lead with heart, humility, and an unwavering commitment to others. For nearly a century, his life has been a testament to service, whether lending a helping hand to neighbors, serving his country on the front lines in Korea, or simply showing up with a smile and a kind word when it mattered most.

In a world that often moves too fast, Ralph reminds us of the quiet power of consistency, compassion, and community. His story is not just one of longevity, but of legacy — a legacy built not on recognition, but on relationships. As Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative celebrates our 90th year of operation, it's members like Ralph who embody the spirit of selfless service we strive for every day.

Ralph's commitment to serving others was modeled early by his parents. His mother maintained what the family affectionately called an "open-door food policy," offering home-cooked meals to anyone in the community in need. His father, a World War I veteran, returned home after surviving a nearly fatal gunshot wound on the front lines. These early examples instilled in Ralph a deep sense of duty and compassion. "We would see people broken down on the side of the road and wouldn't think twice about stopping to help them," Ralph recalls. "I always made sure that I kept my toolbox in the back of my truck so I could lend a helping hand. It makes me sad that you just don't see that nowadays."

That spirit of service carried Ralph into the U.S. Marine Corps at age 18, following in the footsteps of his brother-in-law. He was deployed to the front lines of the Korean War, where he served bravely as a machine gunner, protecting countless American lives under the most harrowing conditions.

Upon returning home, Ralph faced a new battle when he was diagnosed with leukemia. But he met this challenge with the same courage and resilience that defined his military service. After overcoming the illness, Ralph returned to his passion for working on cars, resuming his position at Wooster Ford. “When I came home, I didn’t know if I still had a job,” he says. “I asked the manager if they still had a position for me, and they said they would always have a place for me if I wanted it. I told them I didn’t have enough money for a ride to work anymore, and they gave me a car free of charge. That meant the world to me.”

During this time, Ralph met and married his first wife, Miriam. The couple shared more than 50 years of life together, filled with love, laughter, and a shared commitment to serving others. Miriam supported Ralph through a career transition to Wooster Brush, where he would eventually rise to the role of foreman, from which he would later retire. Together, they also shared a deep love for music, especially the songs Ralph played on his steel guitar. Their story was one of harmony, until cancer claimed Miriam’s life, bringing an end to a beautiful chapter but not to Ralph’s enduring spirit.

Today, Ralph remains a quiet force of kindness and strength in our community. His toolbox may be retired, but his legacy of generosity lives on through his donations to local churches and charities so that others may be blessed through him. Anyone who visits Ralph and his wife, Judy, is sure to feel the love and full stomach that rivals any loving grandparent.

He reminds us that a life of service doesn’t require grand gestures, just a willingness to show up, lend a hand, and care deeply for those around us, precisely the things that our co-op holds at the core of our operations. Ralph Shaffer is not just a witness to history — he is a part of what makes our co-op’s story so rich. And in honoring him, we’re reminded of the kind of impact one person can make over a lifetime.

Unclaimed capital credits

In 2021, Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc., mailed a general retirement of capital credits. Many checks were returned to us undeliverable and, to date, these refunds remain unclaimed. Per the cooperative’s code of regulations, the unclaimed capital credits are reallocated to current cooperative members after the original mailing and following two consecutive notices in this publication. This is the first notice.

Anyone with information on these members (or their heirs) whose names and last known residences are listed is asked to contact the cooperative office toll-free at 866-674-1055, ext. 244. Contact must be made by January 1, 2026, 60 days following the second publication of this notice.

Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative timeline

October 1935

Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative was formed on October 30, 1935, in Millersburg. Local residents banded together, speaking at small town meetings and going to individual farms. As farmers began to sign up for membership, the maps of electric lines began to take shape.

February 1937

The first substation was energized in February 1937 in Moreland, and in March, the first consumers were connected, with 493 members served by 121 miles of line. It was one of the first substations in the rural area, and it also provided power to the Tuscarawas-Coshocton Cooperative, now known as The Frontier Power Company. HWEC's substation supplied power to the neighboring cooperative until 1948, when it built its own substation.

1940s

In the 1940s, electric cooperatives in Ohio began to combine efforts, as World War II made materials and supplies difficult to obtain, hampering cooperatives' expansion. Annual meetings in those years were poorly attended, and the records mention obtaining ration stamps for hot dogs and cheese lunches. Door prizes were war savings stamps and war bonds.

1950s

After the war, it was a new beginning for Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative. Land was purchased for a future substation in Wayne County. Membership continued to grow, and by the mid-1950s, three more substations were energized. The cooperative reached a milestone in 1956, with year-end financials showing more than $1 million in net worth. In 1958, the cooperative changed its name from Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., to Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc. The following year, the headquarters moved to its current location just north of Millersburg.

In 1963, the cooperative retired its first capital credits. A total of $20,382.21 was paid to members who received service in 1945.

The computer era ushered in a new way of doing business at HWEC. Spreadsheets and computers helped plant accounting become more accurate and sped up inventory tracking and work orders. The billing procedure, which took two people a full week to process 6,000 accounts, now runs 18,000 overnight. Payroll, which took a full day, now takes about an hour.

1970s

The 1970s saw HWEC's continued growth, but the cooperative also had to dig out of the infamous blizzard of 1978, literally and financially. Line personnel, lacking four-wheel-drive equipment, struggled to restore power. Snowmobiles helped, but many found themselves stranded on back roads and rights-of-way that saw 6- to 8-foot drifts. The blizzard was the most expensive storm to date for the co-op, resulting in $200,000 in damage.

2004 & 2005

Ice storms in December 2004 and January 2005 knocked out power to more than 15,000 members — or more than 90 percent of the membership. Of HWEC's 18 substations, 16 were inoperable because of destroyed transmission lines. The ice broke 110 poles and laid 500 miles of power lines on the ground.

2008

The Millersburg office and warehouse were remodeled to accommodate further growth and investment.

June 2022

HWEC experienced the worst natural disaster in its history. Straight-line winds and high-speed gusts were reported throughout HWEC's service territory during the early morning hours. A macroburst of 90 mph winds downed trees of all sizes between Wooster and Millersburg, knocking out power to thousands. More than 13,000 of HWEC's 18,000 meters (74%) and 10 of our 18 substations were without power. The number of broken poles climbed to 300. With the assistance of additional crews from Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky, power was 100% restored nine days later, on June 22. Costs for immediate recovery following the storm topped $3 million.
