Tough economic times require new approaches

Tough times. You don't have to be reminded of the economic problems weighing down our families, communities, state and nation.

The recession has hit us, too. We've seen home construction stutter and nearly stop, rising unemployment, increased operating costs and 20 percent reduction in industrial demand for electricity. Add to this wholesale rates that are trending upward and we have the proverbial "perfect storm" of negative factors.

However; we all are in this together. We continue to take steps through the last several years to reduce our costs and become more efficient. Every penny we save and each process we streamline produces bottom-line benefits for the co-op and its member-owners.

In this month's Country Living magazine, an article reveals what Ohio electric cooperatives are doing to become leaner. Please don't get the impression that we've not always been fiscally conservative. It's the tradition of your electric cooperative program to plan and properly time expenditures, decide thoughtfully and spend carefully. We answer to you, the membership, after all, not to profit-hungry stockholders.

The Board of Trustees of Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative has always demanded transparency and accountability. We justify everything we buy and the projects we launch.

Here at Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, we have been concentrating on doing more with the tools and technology that are available. Every procedure and business practice has been under review. Co-op employees find themselves wearing several different hats, instead of just one. Broader training and education—combined with technology and streamlined organizational structures—provide the opportunity for them to assume further responsibilities without sacrificing effectiveness.

"Things are tough all over," the old saying goes. We don't know when economic conditions will improve. Not even the economists and financial experts can predict when the corner will be turned, or even what the corner will look like from the standpoint of indicators such as national gross domestic product, retail sales or employment.

However, Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, its Board of Trustees and employees are committed to working smart and in a cost-effective manner. People are struggling to make ends meet and wondering how they will pay the bills, including the electric bill. Your assurance as a co-op member-owner is that we are doing all in our power to reduce operating and administrative expenses so what you pay for electricity is as close as possible to the actual cost of generation, transmission and distribution. And as we all know, being a member owner, all margins after expenses are returned to you the members in capital credits.

October is National Cooperative Month

Each October, cooperatives all across America celebrate the role, accomplishments and contributions of our nation's cooperatives. Observing National Co-op Month gives electric co-ops yet another reason to tell our members that they are part of something special.

At a time of increasing national concern about the economy, especially rising energy costs, we also must communicate the cooperative difference to decision makers at all levels whose actions affect our members and the communities in which they live and work. The cooperative difference defines who we are and what we can achieve: looking out for our members' best interests.

For more information of National Cooperative Month, visit <http://www.coopmonth.coop>.

Stealing electricity and meter tampering are crimes

Since August 1978, a revised Ohio law has been in effect covering theft of utility service and tampering with utility equipment. The statute provides that a person does not have to be seen tampering with a meter to be held responsible for such action. Prior to the revision in the law, it was difficult to prosecute a person for meter tampering unless the action was witnessed.

In addition, in prosecution for a user's reconnecting a device that was disconnected by a utility, such activity is now considered prima facie evidence that the user intended to defraud the utility.

The law defines theft of a utility service as a first-degree misdemeanor if the value of the stolen electricity, plus any utility equipment repair, is less than $150. It's a fourth-degree felony if the value is more than $150 or if the offender was previously convicted of the charge. Tampering convictions carry similar penalties.

Tampering is defined "to interfere with, damage or bypass a utility meter, conduit or attachment with intent to impede the correct registration of a meter or the proper function of a conduit or attachments."

Conviction can bring from six months in jail and a $1,000 fine to five years in jail and a $2,500 fine.

Meter tampering costs all of us. It costs the cooperative, and it costs you. And, it's downright dangerous. If you witness someone tampering with their electric meter, contact your cooperative office. Stealing electricity is a crime, and anyone caught violating the law will be prosecuted. Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc. is required by law to provide this notice to its members annually.

What causes power outages?

Small animals and birds — Outages occur when animals, especially squirrels, climb on transformers or fuses and cause a short circuit.

Trees — Trees falling on power lines or tree limbs coming into contact with power lines are frequent causes of power outages and “blinking lights” even in good weather. Holmes-Wayne Electric works to maintain right-of-way clearances using contracted tree trimmers.

Vehicle accidents — Vehicles coming into contact with utility poles are another common cause of power outages.

Lightning — Poles, wires, transformers and other electrical equipment are easy targets for lightning strikes, causing severe damage and loss of power. Lightning also may strike trees, causing limbs or even large trees to fall onto power lines.

Wind — Wind may cause power lines to swing together or limbs/trees to blow into lines resulting in a fault or short-circuit that interrupts service.

Equipment failure — Although Holmes-Wayne Electric inspects and monitors equipment throughout our service area, transformers, aging underground power lines and other electric system equipment sometimes fail. This happens more frequently when the temperature is very cold or very hot.

Power supply outage — We depend on American Electric Power (AEP) and FirstEnergy transmission lines to deliver the electricity from our generating plant to our substations. When there is an outage on their transmission lines, many co-op members are affected as well. In some cases, we are able to transfer power from another substation to restore power for many of those members.

Digging — Even underground power lines are susceptible to outages. Before digging, you must call Ohio Utilities Protection Service at 1-800-362-2764.

Keep safety in mind during fall storm season

Late summer and early fall often bring remnants of east coast hurricanes including high winds and heavy rain. As a result, take precautions with your home’s electrical system.

Keep in mind that debris from storms can easily ignite if it comes into contact with downed power lines, especially when electrical wires are severed. Also, standing water and even appliances can become electrically charged.

These tips should help keep you safe following storms this season:

General electrical safety

Never touch a downed power line. Call your electric co-op to report it immediately. Avoid contact with overhead lines during cleanup and other activities. Assume all wires on the ground are electrically charged.

Generator safety

Portable electric generators often are put into use for temporary power. Be sure to follow the manufacturer’s directions for installation and operation.

Use generators or other fuel-powered machines outside the home. Carbon monoxide fumes are odorless and can quickly poison you indoors.

Take special care not to overload the generator. Use appropriately sized extension cords to carry the electric load. Make sure the cords have a grounded, three-pronged plug and are in good condition.

Never run cords under rugs or carpets.

Never connect generators to another power source such as power lines. The reverse flow of electricity can electrocute an unsuspecting utility worker.

Unclaimed capital credits

In May 2004 and 2005, Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc. mailed a general retirement of capital credits. Many checks were returned to us as undeliverable and, to date, these refunds remain unclaimed. Per the cooperative's Code of Regulations, the unclaimed capital credits are reallocated to current cooperative members four years following their original check mailing and following two consecutive notices in this publication. This is the second notice. Anyone with information on these members or their heirs, whose name and last known residence is listed, is asked to contact the cooperative office at 866-674-1055. Contact must be made within 60 days following the last date of the publication of this notice. This is a duplication of the list from last month. If you have already have contacted the cooperative office regarding this list from last month's issue, you do not need to call the office again.
