HWEC celebrates 80 years of service

ON OCT. 30, 2015, Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc., will celebrate 80 years of service. The cooperative has a rich history of community members working together to provide electricity to farms and residences throughout the countryside.

In the early decades of the 20th century, metropolitan areas were already enjoying the luxury of electricity, but power could not be found beyond the city streets. Rural America was still using candles and oil lamps. For-profit electric suppliers could not justify establishing an electrical infrastructure into rural America — there would be no profit in building miles of line for just one farmer.

The rural electrification movement began as early as 1909, when President Theodore Roosevelt spoke to Congress, saying, “Farmers above all should have that power.” But it actually wasn’t until 1935 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Rural Electrification Administration (REA). REA had the tremendous task of electrifying over 5 million farms.

Farmers were initially skeptical, of course. Electricity wasn’t like wheat or fertilizer that could be held in the hand and looked at. It came from far away over humming lines.

In 1930, only 140 residences in Holmes County had electricity. A few gentlemen took the lead to establish Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc. They saw the potential and shared their ideas with others in the community. They began by speaking at small town meetings and going to individual farms. As farmers began to sign up for membership, the maps of potential electric lines began to take shape. Those who secured right-of-way and signed up members on behalf of the co-op were paid $2.50 per day plus 3 cents a mile.

In December 1935, community members of Wayne County contacted Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative to consider joining the efforts. Wayne County had begun recruiting members but had not received REA loan approval. Thereafter, 245 members of Wayne County, totaling $1,270 in membership dues, were added to the rolls of Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative.

In the spring of 1936, the first loan was signed for $269,000 at 3 percent interest, payable in installments over a 20-year period. This loan was to build 214 miles of line. At the same time, a rate schedule was created: Electricity would cost .075 cents per kilowatt-hour (kWh) and carry a minimum charge of $2.50. On that original rate schedule was a note that no member could possibly use more than 400 kWh in a month. Today, the average HWEC household uses 1,350 kWh every month.

The first substation was energized in February 1937 in Moreland, and in March, the first consumers were connected, with 493 members served by 121 miles of line. It was one of the first substations in the rural area, and it also provided power to

Electrical safety tips for kids

With more than 140,000 electrical fires occurring each year, knowledge of electrical safety is necessary to ensuring your loved ones stay safe. Here are a few tips from Holmes-Wayne Electric you can share with your little ones:

Electrical fires are caused when a wire or electrical device overheats. It is important to make sure your children understand that water cannot extinguish this type of fire. Only fire extinguishers can be used to remedy this situation.

In addition, never mix water with electricity. Keep blow dryers, radios and other electrical devices away from water, especially in the bathroom or kitchen.

Keep metal objects out of appliances and plugs. If a piece of toast gets stuck in the toaster, never use a metal knife to retrieve it. Unplug the toaster, and use a different utensil to remove the toast. Remember, only plugs should go in outlets. Sticking fingers or other objects in outlets may result in an electrical shock.

It's always a good idea to turn lights off when they are not in use. This will save your family money on your electric bill and prevent electrical fires from overheated bulbs. Newer compact fluorescent lamps and LED bulbs don't get nearly as hot as traditional incandescent bulbs, so switching can save money and reduce this hazard, too.

Kids will be kids, and they love the great outdoors. Remind them to stay far away from overhead power lines. Whether they are climbing trees or flying kites or remote-controlled toys, they should always be aware of what is above.

Talk to your children about the importance of electrical safety, and more importantly, lead by example — because you never know who's watching. For more information about electrical safety, visit our website at www.hwecoop.com.

Electrical Safety in our schools

Holmes-Wayne Electric provides a FREE educational opportunity for area schools, community organizations and emergency personnel throughout our service territory. Our table-top safety demonstration allows participants to see up close the dangers of electricity. ## Celebrating 80 years (—continued from page 23) the Tuscarawas-Coshocton Cooperative, now known as The Frontier Power Company. HWEC's substation supplied power to the neighboring cooperative until 1948, when it built its own substation.

The cooperative continued to grow, and by the end of 1940, 1,706 members were receiving power — more than three times the original number of members in just three years.

By the 1940s, rural cooperatives in Ohio began to combine efforts, as World War II made materials and supplies difficult to obtain, hampering cooperatives' expansion. Annual meetings in those years were poorly attended, and the records mention obtaining ration stamps for hot dog and cheese lunches. Door prizes were war savings stamps and war bonds.

After the war, it was a new beginning for the HWEC. Land was purchased for a future substation in Wayne County. Membership continued to grow, and by the mid-1950s, three more substations were energized. The cooperative reached a milestone in 1956, with year-end financials showing over $1 million in net worth.

In 1958, the cooperative changed its name from Holmes Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., to Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc. The following year, the headquarters moved to its current location just north of Millersburg.

In 1963, the cooperative retired its first capital credits. A total of $20,382.21 was paid to members who received service in 1945.

The 1970s saw HWEC's continued growth, but the cooperative but also faced two blizzards. Line personnel struggled to restore power, lacking four-wheel-drive equipment. Many found themselves stranded on back roads and rights-of-way that saw 6-to-8-foot drifts.

The following decade, HWEC built a new warehouse and added on to the offices. The late 1980s and into the '90s saw a dramatic increase in new members, as small businesses began to pop up in the area and the housing market continued to grow. Mother Nature continued to cause trouble for HWEC when a tornado tore through Lake Buckhorn in 1981 and West Salem in 2002, but the cooperative cleaned up, rebuilt and continued serving its members.

Then, at the turn of the 21st century, HWEC experience the worst natural disaster in its history. Ice storms in December 2004 and January 2005 knocked out the power of more than 15,000 members — or 90 percent of the membership. Of HWEC's 18 substations, 16 were inoperable because of destroyed transmission lines. The ice broke 110 poles and laid 500 miles of power lines on the ground. HWEC had 19 line crews from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Virginia and Kentucky to assist in the restoration. Twelve tree-trimming crews removed debris on 280 miles of line. The damage cost $6 million in restoration, lost revenue and replacement of equipment.

The next 80 years

The 80-year history of the cooperative serves as a fresh reminder of the power of community. Even though, over the decades, our members' electricity needs have changed, our passion to serve our members has not. We consider it a pleasure to work for our neighbors and look forward to the future of bringing power to your lives every day. ☻

Co-op lines: Single or double?

How Holmes-Wayne Electric brings power to your home

LIVING ON HOLMES-WAYNE Electric Cooperative lines is a literal expression, meaning you have a system of poles and wires connecting your home or business to the co-op so you can get power when and where you need it. While these systems all look quite similar, there are distinct differences. Let's take a look at those differences and why they are important. Caution: utility terms ahead!

Everything starts at the substation when it comes to co-op distribution systems. Transmission lines feed high voltage into the substation, where it is reduced to a more manageable and safer level. On the other side of these transformers, distribution feeder lines carry the power out and into the service area, where they "feed" power to a sizable block of co-op members.

At certain points along the feeders, lateral lines branch out to connect member loads, which are the amounts of power home or businesses need. Systems are designed to supply the amount of load to which they are connected. If you look at a simple map of HWEC's distribution system, it resembles the veins and arteries of the human body. Only in this case, it carries life-enhancing electricity instead of life-sustaining blood.

Lateral lines are the "single" lines referenced in the headline. When co-op distribution systems were first built, the most cost effective solution in a lot of cases was the lateral approach. This was especially true for far-flung, end-of-line members. There is one drawback to a lateral or single line approach, however. When there is a fault — something causing the flow of electricity to stop, like a tree on the lines or a pole being broken by a car — in the system, every member beyond that point loses power until the problem is located and corrected.

Enter the double-line approach. A normal evolution in distribution system growth is to replace radial lines with loop connections. The loop is connected to a power source at two ends rather than one. With this approach, when power is interrupted, we have the opportunity to rapidly restore power to a large portion of the affected members.

Let's say a tree branch breaks and falls onto the wires. Equipment on the lines senses the fault and operates protective devices, just like circuit breakers do in your own home. No power flows beyond the protective device, and all members beyond this point lose power.

Back at the co-op, the system has alerted operators to the problem, or members have started calling about the power outage. Crews are sent to the area to find and fix the problem. If the line is a single, radial one, power for everyone is out until the problem is corrected. But, if a loop is in place, the operators at the co-op or crews in the field can flip switches and reroute power around the fault. This means faster power restoration for many members.

HWEC maintains over 2,250 miles of line to bring power to over 18,000 meters. We work hard to prevent outages, but if there's a fault in the system, we'll work harder to get power restored quickly and safely. In the event of a power outage, please report the outage through our mobile application, SmartHub, online at www.hwecoop.com or call us toll free at 866-674-1055. ☎

I get CASH from my electric company?!

What are capital credits?

Capital credits distributions from member-owned, not-for-profit utilities like Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative are somewhat similar to the dividends paid to shareholders of investor-owned utilities. The difference is that a co-op's "shareholders" are also the members that it serves, and the "dividends" are capital credits distributed to the cooperative's member-owners.

What's the difference between allocated and retired capital credits?

Allocated capital credits appear as an entry on the permanent financial records and reflect your equity, or ownership, in HWEC. Every year, the cooperative notifies its member-owners of the amount added to their patronage capital account through a printed notice on their May electric bills. When capital credits are retired, a check is issued to you.

How are capital credits calculated?

Each year, net margins of the cooperative are divided among the members based on each member's electric consumption for the year. Members who use more electric service receive a larger amount of capital credits allocated to their account.

Will I receive a capital credits check every year?

The board of trustees must authorize a retirement before you receive a check. When considering a retirement, the cooperative's board of trustees must consider the financial condition of the cooperative, the need for cash and the availability of loan funds.

What happens to my capital credits when I leave HWEC's service area?

Your capital credits remain on the books in your name and member number until they are retired. Because payments are made to current and former members alike, you should ensure that HWEC always has your current mailing address.

How often will I receive a capital credits check?

Most recently, the HWEC Board of Trustees approved the retirement of capital credits from 1994. Members who joined the cooperative since 1994 have not yet received a general capital credits retirement. The unretired capital credits, or "equity" of the cooperative, serves a vital function — allowing the cooperative to operate economically and effectively, while investing in the infrastructure necessary to meet the needs of our members. A 20-year capital patronage cycle is the common industry standard.

What are unclaimed capital credits?

HWEC wants to ensure that members receive this benefit, but sometimes we are not able to reach members after they have moved from our lines, leaving their capital credits "unclaimed." In this month's and November's issue of Country Living, we have included a list of members who have not claimed their capital credits. If you recognize any of the names listed, please have the person contact our office toll free at 866-674-1055.

HWEC also needs to be notified by a relative or other legal representative when a member passes away so that the account can be closed or transferred to another person's name.

As a member-owner of your electric cooperative, you receive capital credits.

In the past 10 years, Holmes-Wayne Electric has distributed more than $12.3 million in capital credits to its members.

Unclaimed capital credits

In June 2011, Holmes-Wayne Electric Cooperative, Inc., mailed a general retirement of capital credits. Many checks were returned to us as undeliverable and, to date, these refunds remain unclaimed. Per the cooperative's Code of Regulations, the unclaimed capital credits are reallocated to current cooperative members four years following the original mailing and following two consecutive notices in this publication. This is the first notice. Anyone with information on these members or their heirs, whose name and last known residence is listed, is asked to contact the cooperative office toll-free at 866-674-1055. Contact must be made within 60 days following the last date of the publication of this notice on Jan. 1, 2016.
